

CLAIMS:

I claim:

1. The small gun glove holster is used to hold a small gun (weapon), the small gun glove holster is comprised of a standard leather glove, left or right handed with a leather holster stitched to the top of the glove, the said means for securely closing the small gun glove holster is by stitching a leather strip to the inside of the top portion of the glove where at the end of the leather strip closure is a snap which securely closes around the handle of the weapon and down onto the top of the holster where the male end of the snap is securely mounted. (amended)
2. The small gun glove holster as described in claim 1 has the means for securely holding and allowing quick access to a weapon for personal protection. (amended)
3. The small gun glove holster as described in claim 1 fits over the left or right hand and allows the individual to carry on with their work in a safe manor by securely snapping the strap to the holster and providing safety and personal protection, at the same time.
(amended)
4. The small gun glove holster as described in claim 1 can also be stored in a standard night stand next to the users bed which allows the individual to slide a glove onto their hand in an easy and quick manner which allows the user the means to maneuver and use both hands as normal, yet still have personal protection if needed.
